“Artemis: Return to the Moon, Girls Leading the Way,” our Spring luncheon, celebrates a new Space Center Houston education and mentoring initiative that will engage the next generation of women in STEM. On May 28, 2020, Space Center Houston will honor extraordinary women who are leading space exploration and are inspirational role models and mentors to budding scientists and engineers.

Following the luncheon, these key industry leaders will join a group of women astronauts —current and retired— at a Space Center Houston STEM Mentoring Event for young women that is designed to inspire a new generation of aerospace pioneers. This event will fuel excitement among Houston area girls of all ages, especially underserved students, and offer participants an opportunity to hear these trailblazer’s stories and ask questions firsthand.
